

Ideas for Wedding Flowers - Colour Series - Purple

Congratulations! You're getting Married! You are on the threshold of one of the biggest days of your life and you will want it to be perfect, everyone does! The perfect day requires careful planning and attention to details and can be tricky if you are not prepared. Not everyone knows a great deal about flowers and will rely heavily on their chosen florist to advise about variety and availability of the perfect blooms for the day. This can leave you at the mercy of the florist! It is worth noting that there are many, many florists out there who are willing and happy to assist you with the planning process for all of your wedding flower arrangements. Indeed, there are hundreds of us who look at this process as a large part of our job. However, there are equal numbers of florists who expect the bride to have, not only a good idea of what they want, but an exact list and portfolio of all the arrangements required. Whether you find one of us or not, this series of ebooks are designed specifically to help you with that process, so you are able to walk confidently into the florist, armed with your portfolio of ideas, all (s)he will have to do is take your portfolio and give you a price. You will already know exactly what you want... The Bridesmaids dresses will provide the key to the colour scheme of the entire wedding, unless, of course, you have gone for all ivory or white dresses and plan to highlight the flowers as the colour scheme, in which case, it makes sense to make your choices based upon seasonal flowers, or your favourite colour ;) These guides are designed around the colour of the bridesmaids dresses and deal with the most popular colours at the moment. This guide is to help choose the flowers to go with purple dresses. Each guide will take a specific colour and will be devoted entirely to that colour, offering advice and guidance through the process of choosing the right blooms to match or to co-ordinate beautifully. Kindle versions do not hold photographs, however, ideas4weddingflowers.com Facebook page has colour coded albums of photographs to accompany the series. The first section will dive straight in and give you the first, most obvious colour matches, hewing to the scheme of the bridesmaids dresses. You will see research tables, giving variety names and, more importantly, seasonal availability. Many flowers are attainable, even off season these days, but you will pay more for non-seasonal flowers. The second section will offer an alternative colour scheme for your flowers. This may be in complete contrast to the dress colour, or it may pick up touches of the colour. In this section, you will also find ideas about adding colour to all ivory or white arrangements and discusses the possibilities. There are tips and advice throughout, to help with accessories, cheaper varieties for table and venue arrangements and ideas to help bring the entire theme together. Little details make all the difference! The final part is all about the organisation of your information and will show how to set out your research and make lists according to the plans we have made in the previous sections. The techniques learned here can be applied to other aspects of the wedding, and are already tried and tested. This section will also offer sound advice about how and where to find a great florist (or two)! Throughout the style guides, you will find some useful insider tips and advice based upon years of experience in the florist trade. Make the most of these invaluable gems, some will save you money, others will save you time and stress and all will help to build your confidence, enabling you to put all your ideas across to the florist in a way in which you will ensure you get what you want, where you want it to be on the big day itself.
